

International Geographical Union Commission on Gender and Geography

Newsletter 29

November 2002

COMMISSION WILL HOLD SEMINAR IN ROME

The IGU Commission on Gender and Geography is organizing a seminar, May 30-31, 2003, on "Gendered Cities: Identities, Activities, Networks A Life Course Approach" at the Villa Celimontana "Home of Geography" in Rome. Organizers of the seminar are Gisella Cortesi, University of Pisa, Flavia Cristaldi, University of Rome "La Sapienza," and Joos Droogleever Fortuijn, University of Amsterdam.

Feminist geographers have long been fascinated by the gendered nature of urban life, and the heterogeneous mix of people to be found in cities around the world. In fact, cities are markedly gendered. Twenty-five years ago feminist geographers focused mainly on the lives, activities, and experiences of adult women children, youth and the elderly seemed to be non-existent. At the same time, feminist geographers emphasized the negative sides of urban life: the danger and deprivation, leaving the fun, excitement, and empowerment to men.

This seminar will address the gendered nature of identities, activities, and networks in cities, focusing on different stages of the life course. Both the sad and bright sides of urban life will be discussed. The triad, "identities, activities, networks" provides a framework for a variety of themes: identities; experiences and feelings of belonging, comfort and commitment; participation in productive, reproductive, and leisure activities; education, knowledge and technology; transport and mobility; the use of urban space; appropriation of and exclusion from urban domains; danger, safety and excitement; informal networks; formal social, cultural, and political organizations. It provides a framework for study of diverse groups: children, youth, adults, and elderly in different class, ethnic, minority, disabled, immigrant and sexual orientation groups.

Friday, May 30 and Saturday May 31 will be devoted to the presentation and discussion of papers at Villa Celimontana in the centre of Rome. Sunday June 1, 2003 will be set aside for a field trip in Rome.

DEADLINE for Abstracts: February 1, 2003. Contact Joos Droogleever Fortuijn (j.c.droogleever@frw.uva.nl) or Gisella Cortesi (gcortesi@geog.unipi.it) and see the IGU Gender Website for further information: <http://www2.fmg.uva.nl/igugender>. Registration will be 70 Euros (students 35 Euros) before April 1, 2003 and 80 Euros (students 40 Euros) after April 1, 2003. Field trip cost will be 25 Euros.

COMMISSION HOSTS TWO SUCCESSFUL MEETINGS IN 2002

The Commission held a highly successful meeting in Durban in August, 2002 in conjunction with the Regional Conference of the International Geographical Union. Beginning with a field trip led by Urmilla Bob, University of Durban Westville and an informal session to review the current situation of feminist geography internationally, the program focused on issues of inclusion and exclusion in relation to resources. Some 20 papers were presented by scholars from eleven countries. Several addressed issues of women's relation to technology; gender and labor markets, including aspects of poverty and women's entrepreneurship, were considered in several presentations; another set addressed issues of inclusion and exclusions in urban space, focusing on behavior and perceptions, considering diverse groups of women and contrasting urban contexts; other papers dealt with aspects of mobility in connection with livelihoods, migration policies, and transportation. A number of papers took up methodological issues including discussion of feminist uses of GIS, agenda setting by NGOs, and collaborative research. Throughout, questions of power and empowerment surfaced, whether in relation to women's representation in public bodies, of feminist work within geography, or women's active roles in community development. Participants appreciated the efforts of Agnes Musyoki (University of Venda), Commission Vice Chair, in working with local organizers and of Commission Chair, Joos Droogleever Fortuijn (University of Amsterdam) in setting up the program.

An excellent conference "Placing Gender, Making Policy" was held in conjunction with the Canadian Association of Geographers Annual Meeting in Toronto, May 31,-June 3, 2002, attracting almost 50 presentations with papers organized in a dozen sessions, two plenaries (by Liz Bondi and Joni Seager), and opportunities for round table discussions, together with two field trips one on immigrant neighborhoods in Toronto, the other on public policy initiatives and women's organizational work to create safe spaces in Toronto. In addition, the Suzanne Mackenzie Memorial Lecture, delivered by Evelyn Peters, focused on feminist perspectives on indigenous studies. In addition to Canadian representatives, participants came from the U.S., Europe, and Asia. A symposium sponsored by the National Secretariat on Homelessness took up the theme "Women and Homelessness: The View from Below" presenting interdisciplinary research. Topics that have not previously received substantial attention at IGU conferences included issues of indigenous women and women's activism around policy making at different geographical scales. The complete program and abstracts can be viewed at http://www.yorku.ca/geography/igu\_ugi/. The work of local organizers, Fran Klodawsky (Carleton University) and Valerie Preston (York University) was much appreciated.

FORTHCOMING and RECENT MEETINGS

The Research Group, Geography and Gender, at the Autonomous University of Barcelona is organizing an International Workshop on "Gender, Public Spaces and the City," that will take place May 9-10, 2003. Coordinated by Maria Dolors García Ramon, the central issues of the workshop will be: a) use and appropriation of public spaces; and b) identity and belonging in urban space. The workshop will be attended by staff and graduate students. Ten speakers have been invited from Canada, the Netherlands, Greece, and Spain. Some lectures will be in English, others in Spanish. For more information, contact Ariadna Cucurella (ariadna.cucurella@uab.es) and Anna Ortiz (anna.ortiz@uab.es).

The VII Jornadas de historia de las mujeres and II Congreso Iberoamericano de estudios de género will be held in Salta, Argentina, July 24-26, 2003. A session on women and environment will feature Diana Lan and Monica Columbara, current and immediate past Latin American representatives to the IGU Commission on Gender and Geography. For further information see www.unsa.edu.ar/jornad02.

The 4th Bernese Graduate Colloquium on Geography and Gender and Feminist Research, organized by the University of Bern, Switzerland, will address "Body and Music in Geography: Exploring Diversity and Difference." Speaker will be Gill Valentine (Sheffield University). The weekend of intense reading and discussion will take place November 1-2, 2002.

The Association of Spanish Geographers will hold its 18th National Congress in Barcelona, September 24-27, 2003. For the first time, a section on gender will be offered, coordinated by Ana Sabate (Universidad Complutense de Madrid), with the title "Género, Sociedad y Territorio. Gemma Canoves (Universidad Autónoma de Barcelona) is the Chair of the Organizing Committee for the Congress.

A Reading Weekend with Doreen Massey on the theme, "Sexuality in the City," will be held in Munich January 24-26, 2003. For further information contact anne.vonstreit@ssg.geo.uni-muenchen.de

The Deutscher Geographentag will be held in Bern September 28-October 4, 2003. Abstracts for papers on alternative theoretical positions in the development of gender studies in geography should be sent to Elisabeth Aufhauser (Elisabeth.aufhauser@univie.ac.at), Elisabeth Bühler buehler@geo.unizh.ch or Verena Meier verena.meier@geo.wiso.tu-muenchen.de). For further information on the conference, see www.geotag.ch.

Among speakers at an interdisciplinary conference on the place of emotions in everyday life held at Lancaster University (UK), September 23-25 were geographers Liz Bondi, Gillian Rose, and Gill Valentine. The Geography Institute of the University of Heidelberg, with the Heidelberg Institute for Interdisciplinary Women and Gender Studies, hosted a conference on "Free Space and Free Time" July 11-12, 2002. The meeting was designed to link theory and practice, bringing together geographers, planners, sociologists, psychologists, and leisure studies scholars. For further information, contact Dr. Caroline Kramer, Geographisches Institut, Berlinerstr. 48, D-69120 Heidelberg or kramer@zuma-mannheim.de. A summary of the meeting is provided in Feministisches Geo-RundMail, No.14. Contact: michaela.schier@ssg.geo.uni-muenchen.de to receive the newsletter.

The 3rd International Conference of Critical Geography in Bekescsaba, Hungary, which brought together 180 participants from 35 countries, included a session "Spaces of Difference: Feminist, Postcolonial and Embodied Geographies" organized by Sue Ruddick. Gender perspectives were included in a number of other presentations. The conference was hosted by Judit Timar.

An international seminar, "Espacio y Género," coordinated by Alicia Lindón was held October 18, 2002 in the Human Geography program, Division of Social Sciences and Humanities, Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Iztapalapa, Mexico. Speakers included Mireia Baylina (Universidad Autónoma de Barcelona, Spain) on methodologies for studying rural women; Marta Ibañez (Universidad de Oviedo, Spain) on responsibilities for paying for household expenses; Emma Zapata (Colegio Postgraduados en Ciencias Agrícolas, Montecillo, Mexico) and Marta Chiappe (Universidad de República, Uruguay) on global and gender perspectives on sustainable rural communities; Sandra Lorenzano (Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana-Iztapalapa, Mexico) on women's writings and the city; Alejandra Massolo (Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana-Azcapotzalco) on a gender focus on urban and municipal research; Alicia Lindón (Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Iztapalapa) on gender and life spaces on the periphery of Mexico City; Federico Besserer (Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Iztapalapa) on "After mother earth: reflections on a post-sexual geography," and Verónica Ibarra (Colegio de Geografía, Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México) on women and their spaces in construction.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE WORLD

Congratulations to Ruth Fincher, former Chair of the IGU Gender Commission, on her election as a Fellow of the Academy of Social Sciences in Australia; to Sylvia Chant, who has been made Professor of Development Geography at the London School of Economics; and to Linda Peake and Valerie Preston (both at York University, Canada) who have been promoted to full professor.

Flavia Cristaldi reports that the University of Rome, "La Sapienza" will begin a master's program this year on "Women's History, Gender Studies, and Equal Opportunities." She will be teaching a component on geography and gender differences.

Janet Momsen (U California, Davis, US) has been awarded a Christiansen Fellowship by St. Catherine's College, Oxford University from January till March, 2003.

Mireia Baylina (Universidad Autónoma de Barcelona) is spending a three-month research leave at the University of Arizona with support of a grant from the Spanish Ministry of Education. Her major attention is devoted to reviewing research on gender and informal sector work. She is also participating in an international seminar in Mexico (see above).

Karen Morin (Bucknell University) is a Fulbright scholar at Nizhni Novgorod State University, Russian Federation, where she is lecturing weekly on cultural and gender geography and the American West. She will also give a public lecture on North American feminist historical geography.

Marit Aure, University of Tromsø (Norway) is a visiting scholar at the University of Arizona. She has just completed a study for the Norwegian Labour Market administration and the Directorate of Labour which provides advice to the national government. Her report questions who gains from the recruitment of the Russian labour force from the Barents region to work in the fish processing industry in northern Norway. The report concludes that while workers, employers, and the community appreciate the opportunities to hire Russian workers, the workers are paying the costs, with short term working permits and limited rights, and subject to flexible labor demands. Russian women are especially engaged in this labor force, recruited through marriage and other channels; while making important economic contributions, they are met with gendered prejudices in Norway. Marit's continuing work focuses on the intersections of economic and cultural issues in gendered Russian migration to Norway.

Congratulations to Rickie Sanders who has been appointed Director of Women's Studies at Temple University.

WEB SITES

Anna Segre (Università di Torino, Italy) identifies two websites of interest to feminist geographers: http://hal9000.cisi.unito.it/wf/CENTRI\_E\_L/CIRSDe/index.htm and http://hal900.cisi.unito.it/wf/CENTRI\_E\_L/CIRSDe/CORSO-ON-L1/index.htm The first is the site of the University's Center for Women Studies, the second of a Course-online that includes a section on "Gender, development, and environment." The name requested to enter is valutazione and the password is &GenerE.

Information on NORA: Nordic Journal of Women's Studies, an English-language journal, is available at <http://www.tandf.no/nora>. Issue 2/2002 deals with challenges to gender equality in the Nordic welfare states.

The homepage "GenderArbeitGeographie" can be found at <http://www.gender-arbeit-geographie.de>.

The website <http://agwomen.aers.psu.edu> is devoted to US farm women, with links to a range of other related sites.

NEW BOOKS

Brownell, S., Wasserstrom, J. (eds). 2002. Chinese Femininities, Chinese Masculinities: A Reader. Berkeley and London: University of California Press.

Fenster, T. 2003. The Global City and the Holy City: Narratives on Planning, Knowledge and Diversity. London: Pearson.

Fernando, P. and G. Porter (eds). 2002. Balancing the Load: Women, Gender, and Transport. London: Zed Press.

Fine-Davis, M., Fagnani, J., Giovanni, D., Hojgaard, L. and H. Clarke. 2002. Fathers and Mothers: Dilemmas of Work-Life Balance. Final report for the European Commission, DGV, Brussels, Belgium (307pp.)

Hardill, I. 2002. Gender, Migration and the Dual Career Household. London: Routledge.

Karam, K. and Tryggestad, T.L. (eds). 2000. Gender Perspectives on Peace and Conflict Studies. Oslo: NUPI.

Karsten, L. 2002. Oases in het beton. Aandachtspunten voor een jeugd vriendelijke openbare ruimte (Oases in the Urban Landscape: How to Create Youth-Friendly Public Space). Assen: Van Gorcum.

Karsten, L., E. Kuiper and H. Reubsath. 2001. Van de Straat? De Relatie Jeugd en Openbare Ruimte Verkend (Off the Street? The Relationship Between Youth and Public Space). Assen: Van Gorcum.

Lay, M. M., J. Monk, and D.S. Rosenfelt (eds). 2002. Encompassing Gender: Integrating International Studies and Women's Studies. New York: The Feminist Press.

Mawdsley, E., J. Townsend, G. Porter, and P. Oakley. 2002. Knowledge, Power and Development Agendas: NGOs North and South. Oxford: INTRAC.

Moss, P. and I. Dyck. 2002. Woman, Body, Illness. Lanham MD: Rowman and Littlefield.

Puwar, N. and Raghuram, P. (eds). 2003. South Asian Women in the Diaspora. Berg. (NYU press in the US)

Yeoh, B.S.A., P. Teo and S. Huang. 2002. Gender Politics in the Asia-Pacific Region. London: Routledge.

Wyman, M. (ed). 1999. Sweeping the Earth: Women Taking Action for a Healthy Planet. Toronto: CSPI/Women's Press.

ARTICLES, BOOK CHAPTERS, and WORKING PAPERS

Ampudia Rueda, L. 2000. "Ciudad Juárez: estructura salarial y de empleo", Ciudades, Revista trimestral de la Red Nacional de Investigación Urbana 49: 3-7. México D.F., Jesús Fernández-Gráficos.

Arnaug, L. 2001. "Public family and 'caring' state: family change and policy reform in the Nordic countries - shifting pattern of solidarity between the sexes and the generations." In Transformations in Europe. Amsterdam: Koninklijke Nederlandse

Akademie van Wetenschappen

Aspaas, H.R. 2002. "Rural Virginia women's small businesses: ethnicity and linkages," Southeastern Geographer 32(2): 181-208.

Blumen, O. 2002. "Criss-crossing boundaries: ultraorthodox Jewish women go to work," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 133-51.

Bob, U. and A. Musyoki. 2002. "Gender Geography in South Africa," The South African Geographical Journal/Die Suid-Afrikaanse Geografiese Tydskrif 84(1): 98-106.

Boyle, P. 2002. "Population geography: transnational women on the move," Progress in Human Geography 26(4): 531-543.

Bühler, E. 2002. Atlas Suisse des femmes et d l'égalité. Zurich: Seismo (<http://www.seismoverlag.ch/>)

Canoves, G. and P. Edo i Benaigues. 2001. "Barcelona during the beginning of the 20th century as seen from women's literary sources," Documents d'Anàlisi Geogràfica, 38: 89-98.

Chant, S. 2002. "Debate: Researching Gender, Families and Households in Latin America from the 20th into the 21st century," Bulletin of Latin American Research 21(4): 545-575.

----. 2002. "Women, men and household diversity." In C. McIlwaine and K. Willis (eds). Challenges and Change in Middle America: Perspectives on Development in Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean. Harlow: Pearson Educational.

----. 2002. "Whose crisis? Public and popular reactions to family change in Costa Rica." In Christopher Abel and Colin Lewis (eds), Exclusion and Engagement: Social Policy in Latin America. London: Institute of Latin American Studies.

----. 2002. "Families on the verge of breakdown? Views on contemporary trends in family life in Guanacaste, Costa Rica," Journal of Developing Studies 18, Nos 2-3.

Chant, S. in association with N. Craske. 2003. Gender in Latin America. London: Latin America Bureau/New Brunswick, NJ. (released, November, 2002).

Chant, S. and M. Gutmann. 2002. "'Men-streaming' gender?: Questions for gender and development policy in the 21st century," Progress in Development Studies 2(4): 269-82.

Comboni Salinas, S. 2000. "Familia y construcción de la identidad en un espacio emergente: el caso del valle de Chalco." In D. Hiernaux, A. Lindón & J. Noyola (coords.), La construcción social de una territorio emergente: el valle de Chalco, México, El Colegio Mexiquense.

Domosh, M. 2002. "A civilised' commerce: gender, race" and empire at the 1893 Chicago Exposition," Cultural Geographies 9(2): 181-201.

Droogleever, J.F. 2001. "Emancipatie, Vrije Tijd en Zord in de Vijfde Nota," Emancipation, Leisure, and Reproductive Work in the Fifth National Framework on Spatial Planning). In Rooilijn 34(4): 167-71.

Duncan, J.S. 2002. "Embodying colonialism: domination and resistance in 19th century Ceylonese coffee plantations," Journal of Historical Geography 28(3): 317-38.

Faust, D. and R. Nagar. 2001. "English medium education, social fracturing, and the politics of development in postcolonial India," Economic and Political Weekly July 28-August 3: 2878-83.

Fenster, T. 2001. "Planning, culture, knowledge and control: minority women in Israel." In O. Yiftachel, K. Little, D. Hedgcock, and I. Alexander (eds), The Power of Planning. Dordrecht: Kluwer.

----. 2002. "Planning as control - cultural and gendered manipulation and mis-use of knowledge," HAGAR: International Social Science Review 3(1):67-84.

Follo, G. 2002. "A hero's journey: young women among males in forestry education," Journal of Rural Studies 18(3): 293-306.

Gururani, S. 2002. "Forests of pleasure and pain: gendered practices of labor and livelihood in the forests of the Kumaon Himalayas, India," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 229-43.

Hanson, S. 2002. "Connections," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 301-03.

Heffernan, M. and C. Medlicot. 2002. "A feminine atlas? Sacajewea, the suffragettes, and the commemorative landscapes in the American West," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 109-131.

Hoven, B. van 2001. "Women at Work: Experiences and Identity in Rural East Germany." In Area 33(1): 38-46.

Hoven, B. van and P.D. Groote. 2002. "De 'andere' regio's" (The Other Region). In B. de Pater (ed) Denken over regio's. Bussum: Couthino.

Hoven, B. and L. van Jager. 2001. "Mobiliteit en ouderen in rural gebieden" (Mobility and the Elderly in Rural Regions). In Rooilijn 6:297-301.

Hyams, M. 2002. "'Over there' and 'back then': an odyssey in national subjectivity," Environment and Planning D: Society and Space 20(4):459-76.

Katz, C. 2001. "Stuck in place: children and the globalization of social reproduction." In R.J. Johnston, P.J. Taylor, and M.J. Watts (eds). Geographies of Global Change: Remapping the World. Oxford: Blackwell.

----. 2001. "Disciplining Interdisciplinarity," Feminist Studies 27(3): 519-25.

----. 2001. "The state goes home: local hypervigilance and the global retreat from social reproduction," Social Justice 28(3) 47-56.

----. 2001 "Vagabond capitalism and the necessity of social reproduction," Antipode 33(4): 708-27 (reprinted in S. Aronowitz and H. Gautney (eds) Implicating Empire: Globalization and Resistance in the 21st Century World Order. New York: Basic Books.

----. 2001. "On the grounds of globalization: A topography for feminist political engagement," SIGNS: Journal of Women in Culture and Society 26(4): 1213-1234.

----.2001. "Hiding the target: social reproduction in the privatized urban environment," in C. Minca (ed.) Postmodern Geography: Theory and Praxis. Oxford: Blackwell.

Karsten, L. 2002. "Mapping Childhood in Amsterdam: the Spatial and Social Construction of Children's Domains in the City," Tijdschrift voor Economische en Sociale Geografie 93(3): 231-41.

----.2002. "Verschuivingen in Dagindeling en Toekomstige Verstedelijkingsmodellen," (Changes in Daily Time Schedules and Urbanisation). In Et Kader van het Streekplan 2020 Noord-Holland Zuid. Haarlem: Provincie Noord Holland.

Karsten, L. and E. Pel. 2000. "Skateboarders Exploring Urban Public Space: Ollies, Obstacles, and Conflicts," Journal of Housing and the Built Environment 15: 327-40.

Karsten, L. and S. Blom. 2002. "Kind en Carriere in de Stad," (Child and Career in the City). Rooilijn 35(2): 86-91.

Klodawsky, F. 2001. "Recognizing economic and social rights in neoliberal times," Canadian Geographer 45(1): 120-26.

Klodawsky, F. and S. Farrell. 2002. "Images of homelessness: implications for local politics," Canadian Geographer 46(2): 124-41.

Kwan, M-P. 2002. "Introduction: feminist geography and GIS," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 261-62.

----. 2002. "Is GIS for women? Reflections on the critical discourse in the 1990s," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 271-79.

- Lindón Villoria, A. 2000. "La espacialidad del trabajo, la socialidad familiar y el ideario del progreso. Hacia nuevos modos de vida urbanos en el valle de Chalco." In D. Hiernaux, A. Lindón & J. Noyola (coords.), La construcción social de una territorio emergente: el valle de Chalco, México, El Colegio Mexiquense.
- Lee, W.K.M. 2002. "Gender ideology and the domestic division of labor in middle-class Chinese families in Hong Kong," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 245-60.
- Little, J. 2002. Rural geography: rural gender identity and the performance of masculinity and femininity in the countryside," Progress in Human Geography 26 (5): 665-670.
- Longhurst, R. 2002. "Geography and gender: a 'critical' time?" Progress in Human Geography 26(4): 544-552.
- Madge, C. 2000. "Forest spirits and the negotiation of ethnicity and gender among the Jola." In R. Cline-Cole and C. Madge (eds). Contesting Forestry in West Africa. Ashgate.
- McLafferty, S. L. 2002. "Mapping women's worlds: knowledge, power and the bounds of GIS," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 263-69.
- Miles, M. 2001. "Rethinking gender, empowerment and development." In M.M. Khosa (ed.) Empowerment through Economic Transformation. Durban: African Millennium Press.
- Momsen, J. 2002. "NGOs, Gender and Indigenous Grassroots Development," Journal of International Development. Davis: Wiley InterScience.
- Morin, K. 2002. Postcolonialism and native American geographies: the letters of Rosalie La Flesche Farley, 1896-1899," Cultural Geographies 9(2): 158-180.
- Mountz, A. 2002. "Feminist politics, immigration and academic identities," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 187-94.
- Nagar, R. 2002. "Viewpoint: Footloose researchers, 'traveling' theories and the politics of transnational feminist practice," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 179-86.
- . 2002. "Women's theater and the redefinitions of public, private and politics in north India," ACME: An International E-Journal for Critical Geographers 1(1):55-72.
- Nagar, R., V. Lawson, L. McDowell, and S. Hanson. 2002. "Locating globalization: feminist re-readings of the subjects and the spaces of globalization," Economic Geography 78(3): 257-84.
- Oberhauser, A.M. 2002. "Relocating gender and rural economic strategies," Environment and Planning A 34(7): 1221-37.

Olund, E.N. 2002. "Public domesticity during the Indian reform era; or, Mrs. Jackson is induced to go to Washington," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 153-66.

Pacheco Ladrón de Guevara, L. C. 2000. "Cuando los dioses habitan la ciudad", Ciudades, Revista trimestral de la Red Nacional de Investigación Urbana, 49:27-32 México D.F., Jesús Fernández-Gráficos.

Pavlovskaya, M. 2002. "Mapping Urban Change and Changing GIS: other views of economic restructuring," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 281-89.

Peña Saint Martin, F. & López Alonso, S. 2000. "Jefaturas femeninas de hogar y crecimiento de preescolares en Valle de Chalco Solidaridad" in D. Hiernaux, A. Lindón & J. Noyola (coords.), La construcción social de una territorio emergente: el valle de Chalco, México, El Colegio Mexiquense.

Phillips, R. 2002. "Imperialism and the regulation of sexuality: colonial legislation on contagious diseases and ages of consent," Journal of Historical Geography 28 (3): 339-362.

Pini, R. 2002. "Focus groups, feminist research and farm women's opportunities for empowerment," Journal of Rural Studies 18(3): 339-51.

Pratt, G. 2002. "Collaborating across our differences," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 195-200.

Radcliffe, S. 2001. "Development, the state and transnational political connections: state formation and networks in Latin America," Global Networks 1(1): 19-36.

----. 2001. "Imagining the state as space: territoriality and the formation of the state in Ecuador." In T. Blom Hanson and F. Stepputat (eds), States of Imagination: ethnographic explorations of the postcolonial state. Durham and London: Duke University Press.

----. 2001. "Indigenous women, rights and the nation-state in the Andes." In N. Craske and M. Molyneux (eds) Gender and the politics of rights and democracy in Latin America. London: Palgrave.

Raghuram, P. 2001. "Caste and gender in the organisation of paid domestic work in India," Work, Employment and Society 15 (3): 607-617.

Raghuram, P. 2000. "Gendering skilled migratory streams: implications for conceptualising migration," Asian and Pacific Migration Journal 9 (4): 429-457.

Raju, S. 2002. "We are different, but can we talk?" Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 173-77.

Ramirez, B. 2000. "¡Y todavía existimos! ¿confrontando la globalización?", Ciudades, Revista trimestral de la Red Nacional de Investigación Urbana, 49: 3-7. México D.F., Jesús Fernández-Gráficos.

Rii, H.U. 2002. "Changes in gender differences in the employment Structure." In Z. Rhee and E. Chang (eds), Korean Business and Management. Holly International Corporation.

Rose, D. 2002. "Revisiting Feminist Research Methodologies/ Retour sur les Méthodologies de recherches féministes," Working Document/ Document de travail. Ottawa: Status of Women Canada. <http://www.swc-cfc.gc.ca/publish/research/drose/020703-drose-index-e.html> (English/Francaise).

----. 2002. Strategic Workshop on Immigrant Women Making Place in Canadian Cities. Policy Relevant Research on Immigration and Settlement - Relevant for Whom? A Working Document. Montréal: Urbanisation, Culture et Société, Institut national de la recherche scientifique and Immigration et Métropoles. Available at <http://GenderImmigration.inrs-ucs.quebec.ca>

Rose, G. 2002. "Working on Women in White again," Cultural Geographies 9(1): 103-109.

Sánchez, M. de L. 2000. "Precarización laboral en el sector de servicios" Ciudades, Revista trimestral de la Red Nacional de Investigación Urbana, 49: 51-56. México D.F., Jesús Fernández-Gráficos.

Schuurman, N. and G. Pratt. 2002. "Care of the subject: feminism and critiques of GIS," Gender, Place and Culture 9(3): 291-99.

Scott, D., C. Oelofse, and C. Guy. 2002. "Double Trouble: Environmental Injustice in South Africa," Agenda 52: 50-57.

Silvey, R. 2002. "Sweatshops and the corporatization of the university," Gender, Place and Culture 9(2): 201-207.

Staeheli, L.A. and R. Nagar. 2002. "Feminists talking across worlds, Gender, Place and Culture 9(2); 167-72.

Struder, I. 2002. "Migrant self-employment in a European global city: the importance of gendered power relations and performances of belonging for Turkish women in London," Research Paper 74. Department of Geography, London School of Economics. (For information about obtaining a copy, contact i.struder@lse.ac.uk)

Tanga, P.T. , T.O. Mbuagbo, and C.N. Fru. 2002. "Coping with the economic crisis:women in the Cameroon's formal sector," Area 34(3): 325-384.

Terry, A. K. 2002. "Who benefits from rural development projects?: A case study of the Komati pilot project," South African Geographical Journal, 83: 18-27.

Thang, L.L., E. MacLachlan and M. Goda. 2002. "Expatriates on the margins: a study of Japanese women in Singapore," Geoforum 33(4): 553-65.

Tillberg Mattson, K. 2002. "Children's (in)dependent mobility and parents' chauffeuring in the town and the countryside," Tijdschrift voor Economische en Sociale Geografie 93(4): 443- 453.

Timar, Judit. 2002. "Restructuring labour markets on the frontier of the European Union: gendered uneven development in Hungary." In A. Rainnie, A. Smith and A. Swain (eds). Work, Employment and Transition: Restructuring Livelihoods in Post-Communism. London and New York: Routledge.

----. 2001. A haztartasi tulelesi strategiak teruleti szempontu kurarasanak nehany elmeleti kerdese es empirikus eredmenye az atmenet idoszakaban Magyarorszagon," (Some theoretical questions and empirical results of the study on household survival strategies during transition in Hungary). In Zamardi, E. I. (ed.) Jubileumi Tanulmányok. Debrecen: Debreceni Egyetem.

Townsend, J., E. Mawdsley, and G. Porter. 2001. "Different poverties, different policies? The role of the transnational community of NGOs. Journal for International Development Studies, 14(6): 629-39.

----.2002. "Challenges for NGOs." In V. Desai and R. Potter (eds), The Companion for Development Studies. London: Arnold.

Varley, A. 2000. "De lo privado a lo público: género, ilegalidad y legalización de la tenencia de la tierra urbana," Estudios Demográficos e Urbanos 44, 15(2): 253-85.

----.2002. "Gender, families and households." In V. Desai and R. Potter eds) The Arnold Companion to Development Studies, London: Edward Arnold.

----.2000. "Women and the home in Mexican family law." In E. Dore and M. Molyneux (eds) The Hidden Histories of Gender and the State in Latin America, Durham, USA: Duke University Press.

Varley, A and M. Blasco. 2000. Intact or in tatters? Family care of older women and men in urban Mexico. Gender and Development 8 (2): 47-55.

----.2001. "Exiled to the home: masculinity and ageing in urban Mexico." In C. Jackson (ed.) Men at Work: Labour, Masculinities, Development, London: Frank Cass. (Reprint of article published in 2000 in European Journal of Development Research 12(2):115-38).

----.2001. "¿Cosechan lo que siembran? Mujeres ancianas, vivienda y relaciones familiares en el México urbano." In C. Gomes (ed.) Procesos sociales, población y familia: alternativas teóricas y empíricas en las investigaciones sobre vida doméstica, Mexico City: Facultad Latinoamericana de Ciencias Sociales (FLACSO)/Porrúa. .

Veleda da Silva, S.M. 2001. "Las mujeres camelôs. Una relación entre lugar, trabajo y hogar. Scripta Nova: Revista Electrónica de Geografía y Ciencias Sociales, Universidad de Barcelona 6 (119): 30. (<http://www.ub.es/geocrit/sn/sn119-30htm>).

----. 2002. Intentando aclarar conceptos: igualdad.diferencia y relaciones de género. In F.X. Paunero, T. Ayllon and M.C. Granell (eds) Mercosur: Desarrollo sostenible y territorio. Girona: Universitat de Girona.

Waters, J.L. 2002. "Flexible families? Astronaut households and the experience of lone mothers in Vancouver, BC," Social and Cultural Geographies 3(2): 117-134.

Weber, J. and Kwan, M-P. 2002. "Bringing time back in: a study on the influence of travel time variations and facility opening hours on individual accessibility," Professional Geographer 54(2): 220-240.

Willis, K. and B. Yeoh. 2002. "Gendering transnational communities: a comparison of Singaporean and British migrants in China," Geoforum 33(4):553-65.

Yaro, J.A. 2001. "Household strategies for food security: a case study from northern Ghana." In A.S. Logran and F. Myklebust (eds). Contemporary Debates in the Discipline of Geography: Space and Place, Landscape and Environment. Trondheim: Department of Geography, University of Trondheim.